

LOST HIS LIFE

Little Willie McDonald Drowned
In the Tennessee Opposite the City.

IN SWIMMING LAST EVENING

Body Recovered and Will Be Taken to Lawton's Bluff for Burial.

DIVER ETTER GOT THE BODY

Willie McDonald, aged 13, was drowned about ten minutes after 8 o'clock last evening in the Tennessee river near a raft of logs moved to the bank of the towhead opposite the city.

He and several companions were in swimming, and as near as could be determined, he attempted to float on a chunk of wood to the raft when it slipped from under him and he sank to rise no more.

Mr. Andy Etter went over at once from the side with Mr. Press Schotta's diving bell and in a short time made the dive and recovered the remains in less than an hour after the drowning occurred.

The remains were taken aboard Charles Ashley's shantyboat and prepared for burial, being taken to Lawton's Bluff for interment.

The boy was an orphan and had been living with a family on South Third street. Little seemed to be known of him by his associates.

DEMOCRATIC CONTESTS.

The Primaries Held in Some of the "River Counties" Saturday.

EDDYVILLE, Ky., July 24.—The primary held in Lyon and Marshall county Saturday to select a Democratic candidate for representative resulted in the election of General H. B. Lyon, of this city. He defeated Prof. G. B. Brightwell by a good vote.

MURRAY, Ky., July 24.—The Democratic primary held in this county Saturday to nominate a candidate for representative was a surprise to the public generally. The contestants were Mr. John McLean and Prof. Bob Swan, the former the present representative and the latter a promising young school teacher. In a very good vote Swan won by a majority of 30. It is said the position of McLean on the present state canvass and his strong endorsement of Sobel, though the county was so strong for Hardin left to his defeat.

CADIZ, July 24.—There is not enough known yet of the result of Saturday's senatorial primary. Four counties—Livingston, Lyon, Calloway and Trigg—voted. Senator Sims, of Cadiz, it is believed, won. The legislative contest is also unsettled, but Colonel Jeff Nickells, of Livingston, no doubt won.

KILLED A LAD.

Police and Military Preparing for Serious Trouble in Cleveland.

CLEVELAND, July 24.—Officers in charge of the troops on strike duty ordered every soldier in the city on duty today. This adds four companies to those on duty. The adjutant general is said to have ordered equipped two out of town regiments and will call them out for duty. This would indicate further trouble is feared.

CLEVELAND, O., July 24.—Shortly after noon a non-union conductor named Hawley shot and killed a fifteen-year-old boy named Cornwell, for calling him a "scab." Hawley is under arrest. The shooting occurred in the vicinity of many fatal trolley accidents and the murder caused intense excitement among the police and Jews who populate the district. The police and military are now preparing for bloodshed in earnest.

A crowd of a thousand people gathered at the scene of the killing. Many carried ropes and demanded that Hawley be lynched. Mayor Farley wired the governor for more troops.

BOLT OF LIGHTNING.

Strikes an Athletic Tournament Crowd, Killing Several.

BERLIN, July 24.—Three persons were killed and sixteen seriously hurt and a hundred prostrated by a flash of lightning during the progress of the athletic tournament at Charlottsburg yesterday. A tremendous panic followed the flash and as almost every one in the stand was struck by the bolt and prostrated it was thought for a time all had been killed. The incident caused the greatest excitement when it became known.

TOBACCO WASHED AWAY.

growth of Car Strike.

NEW YORK, July 24.—A new political party is the outgrowth of the street car strike here. It was launched yesterday, hundreds of delegates representing every trades union in Greater New York at a meeting yesterday deciding upon this action. The convention was called for next month, the 29th, and every union and organized body in the city will be requested to send delegates.

All evidence of the strike is disappearing. Cars are running on schedule time on nearly all of the roads.

BYRNES WORK

Against the Island Negroes Robbers Better Than Thought.

Killed Many and Made Valuable
Captures—Spanish Spies Caught
With Message to Aguinaldo.

MANILA, P. I., July 24.—Two Spanish friars, traveling in disguise, and bearing important dispatches from Filipino Junta at Hong Kong to Aguinaldo, were arrested by the American authorities as they left the steamer here today.

WASHINGTON, July 24.—The dispatch of the bandits in the island negroes is pursued energetically in spite of the rainy season, which causes a cessation of offensive operations. In Luzon, according to the following dispatch received by the war department this morning: Manila, P. I., July 24.—The campaign against the mountain robber bands in Negros, I., more successful than reported. Captain Byrne with seventy men, from the Sixth infantry, killed one third of the 450 assembled, including their leader, a Spaniard. Pursuit was then made by Lieutenant Evans and detachment of the Sixth infantry, who killed three and captured one of the robbers. He also captured a hundred head of stock and many spears and belts and a large quantity of provisions and destroyed a hundred huts. Casualties in the Byrne party: Privates David Anderson, killed, and Albert Jerks slightly wounded.

BRIDGE WASHED AWAY.

It Was Just Paid for By the County Saturday.

The Fortson bridge, on the Woodville road, which was paid for by the county Saturday, to the tune of $214, was washed away by the heavy rain Saturday. This was no more than was expected from the position in which it was located, according to Judge Tully, who said he was not surprised when asked about it by a reporter this morning, and that he paid for the bridge only on a guarantee that it would be replaced should it wash away.

It was reported this afternoon by people in from the country that all that kept the bridge from being washed entirely away was the old bridge, against which it lodged. The old bridge proved to be better than the new one.

RIBS BROKEN.

Mr. Tom Allen Meets With Painful Accident at His Farm.

Mr. Tom W. Allen met with a painful accident yesterday forenoon at his farm near the Broadway road. He came to the city and Dr. Taylor dressed the injury.

This Year.

Miss Besse Adams Resigns Her Position on Account of Ill Health.

There will be three new teachers to elect at the next meeting of the board of education next month. One of the vacancies is occasioned by the resignation of Miss Besse Adams, who was forced to tender her resignation, now in the hands of the secretary of the board, Mr. Rose, on account of continued ill health. She is now visiting in Atlanta.

Prof. Will Clark, colored, died and left a vacancy that will have to be filled, and Superintendent Albroom anticipates that another teacher will be absolutely necessary, which will necessitate another election.

The applicants for Miss Adams' place are: Misses Burdett, Flannery, Toran and Miss Durack, of Evansville. There are but three eligible for Prof. Clark's place: Prof. Edna de, Miss Ida Baker, and Prof. G. W. Tanner. It is thought the former will get the place.

OLD LAND MARK

Ancient Round House of Illinois Central Demolished.

It Will Be Replaced by a New Structure as Soon as the Work Can Be Done.

This morning Supervisor S. T. Lovett, of Louisville, arrived and began with a force of men the work of demolition of the old round house, which has stood for years near the main line of the road, a short distance above the freight depot.

The structure was put up in 1869 by the Paducah and Memphis road, and for years did service, until increased business and additions to rolling stock made a new round house imperative. It was then discarded and a new round house built, and had since been used as a store house, principally.

The old building was about ready to go into collapse, and when all the doors, windows and such things were detached, a locomotive with a powerful chain was attached to it and the walls were pulled into a heap.

The debris will be cleared away at once and the site will be partially occupied by the new round house, which is to contain thirty stalls, and work on which will begin August the first or thereabout.

TWO REVOLUTIONS.

Spain and Italy Seem to Be on the Verge of Serious Trouble.

PARIS, July 24.—Spain is on the verge of a revolution, and in official diplomatic and financial circles here the situation in the peninsula is regarded as more critical and more hopeless than at any time before, during or since the war. The most strenuous efforts are being made here by Count Hoyos, the Austrian ambassador, to arrange for either a combined European intervention, first of all diplomatic, and then, if necessary, by arms, in favor of the Queen Regent and of her son against the forces which are at work against the dynasty. And failing in this, the count has instructions to sound the various great powers as to whether any of them would offer serious objections to Austria intervening alone in support of the Queen Regent, who is a member of the imperial house of Hapsburg.

Meanwhile, all her apartments are being once more prepared for her coming at the Weillburg, that beautiful castle on the bank of the river Schottel, near Vienna, which was bequeathed to her by her husband, the late Archduke Albert, and which last year was got ready no less than three times for her arrival.

It may appear strange at first sight that the Queen Regent, after having been able to remain at the helm of Spain during the troubles that preceded the war, through the disastrous conflict itself, and for well nigh a year after the conclusion of the war, should now be thinking of abandoning her post and sacrificing that throne of her only son which she has regarded until now with so much courage and devotion as a sacred trust. But the situation today is far worse than it has ever been before, and whereas formerly there were hopes of better days under the existing regime, today there are none.

PARIS, July 24.—In Italy the political outlook is exceedingly grave. For the first time since the constitution of Italy as a united kingdom, the Italian people find themselves arrayed in a posture of open enmity against the house of Savoy. It is impossible to give any other construction to the fact that in the recent municipal elections that have taken place, the anti-dynastic party has nearly everywhere obtained an overwhelming victory. The king and his cabinet are now governing the country without Parliament and in defiance of the wishes of the majority of the national legislature. This constitutes a distinct violation of the constitution, and the municipal elections are now the only means short of violence to show the king that the nation disapproves of the perilous course upon which he has embarked.

MONDAY, JULY 24, 1899.

The Democrat of the press is laying great stress on the promise of Bryan to come into the state to make speeches for the Louisville ticket and the endorsements given the ticket by outside Democrats of prominence. What the Democrats should do to be saved in November is to find some leaders of their ticket in the state. Those outsiders can vote and they can't feed others into doing so.

The Goebel campaign has begun to move. The tried and true Democrats who have served their party long as county committeemen are being "removed" to make room for more plant tools. Out in Fulton county last week the reorganization of the county committee took place and Messrs. J. C. Flournoy, S. W. Lutten, R. E. Kelly and R. W. Binford were "removed" and their places filled by others. Then the committee was reorganized. Similar reports will soon no doubt be coming from other counties, and then the people will know what Goebels really means by having it brought closer home to them.

Louisville's anti-Goebel meeting will be held tomorrow evening. The prediction is that the hail chosen, which is one of the largest in the metropolis, will not hold the so-called booters. There will be a warm time politically in Louisville when this gathering comes together.

The Democrats of Madison county have a call out for an anti-Goebel meeting for next Saturday afternoon. The petition in circulation is a regular road of the Louisville convention.

In spite of the statements to the contrary, Mr. Bryan is not coming to Kentucky to put his foot into the Goebel trap. He is too wary to be caught with any trick of Woodson, Blackburn, et al, and to trail with the crowd which is moving at the beck and call of Goebel and the Halldmans. If Bryan wants to lose Kentucky in the next national convention he has only to come into this commonwealth to help the Louisville ticket and he will succeed to the queen's taste. But he isn't coming, for the country is too wide and he can find time and employment too easily elsewhere.

Mr. Goebel no doubt thinks silence is golden. He is still mum relative to Captain Stone's last open letter. It may be the gentleman from Kenton is, however, abiding his time, which often means a great deal.
Judge Tarrin is clearly on the Louisville Courier Journal's black list along with a number of state papers which have spoken little pieces about the big booter. Judge Tarrin will never be forgiven by the Halldmans for writing that letter in which he scored the aforesaid G. J.

The Lexington Herald intimates that Judge Redwine, now on the circuit bench, expects to succeed Judge Hazelrigg, whose term as a member of the court of appeals expires next year. It has been said that this is to be the reward of Mr. Redwine for his management of the Louisville convention, but it would seem to be a long wait for so well-learned a place.

The telephone company in Lexington is preparing to put its lines under the ground. Lexington is a second class city with first class ideas. Here is an example for Paducah.

ABOUT OFFICE HOLDERS.
Mayor Lang is out in the following card, which seems to be intended as an argument against Paducah becoming a city of the second class:
Under the constitution all officers elected shall not hold office until their terms expire, and a common council will be elected in November, 1899, whose terms will not expire until December 1, 1901. The constitution further provides that all officers elected in cities or towns in this commonwealth shall be elected in the odd years, except members of the municipal legislative body. These may be elected in the odd or even years, but no other officer shall. Again, the common council elects in December, 1899, a treasurer, assessor, clerk and city attorney, etc., whose terms of two years are fixed by the statute and these must hold under the constitution until December, 1901.

JAS. M. LANG, Mayor.
There is a thing or two, however, which even the mayor has overlooked in his conscientious perusal of the law. The same law which says all officers elected "shall hold office until their terms expire," also qualifies it with the provision, "until their successors are elected and qualified." No matter what office a man may hold, his successor may be elected and qualified before the term of office expires, as in case of death, resignation, or impeachment. There is really no argument in the office term business. Whenever Paducah becomes a city of the second class all terms of office under the former charter will expire. The terms fixed by that charter cannot extend beyond the operation of the charter itself. According to the mayor's card a man must hold office two years if he is elected for two years, no matter if he be dead or in some foreign country.

Mr. Bryan has written a letter to the Democracy of Kentucky asking for support for the Louisville ticket. The letter is no credit to Mr. Bryan's usual judgment, for he clearly writes through fear that the row in Democratic ranks in the state will sacrifice the national ticket. It is not that he loves Goebel and his gang, but that he loves himself and the cause of silver. But the Democrats won't accept Goebel just to foster a cause which can be looked after later. Goebels is a home fight with them and outsiders need not meddle.

SELF PRESERVATION.
Louisville Commercial. "Quotely but with settled determination the business interests of Kentucky are preparing for their campaign against Goebels, which is in effect a campaign for self preservation. Business will not be good in Kentucky under the rule of a Goebel administration. The substantial industries of the state cannot thrive under the laws which Goebel says shall be enacted this year. Population will not increase with suffrage destroyed through the unpunished crimes of a partisan election commission."

"The business community in Kentucky sees, at last, to what stratagem has been brought by democratic agitation and to what new dangers it will be exposed by democratic success at the polls this year. It sees, after a long period of disastrous blindness, the ruinous drift of democratic administration and democratic law making in this state. It has discovered that capital has no rights which a democratic legislature is willing to respect. It has seen one enterpriser after another divide and liquidate under the injustice and inequalities of democratic taxation until the whole industrial fabric is alarmed at the future. Under spur of the encouragement comprised in the utterances of the Republican platform, the business interests of the state are making, however, a final effort for their salvation. In this campaign they will be on the side of progressive government, of free and fair elections, of the honest administration of the state's affairs, of sensible legislation affecting taxes, and of the generally sound and satisfactory policies of the Republican party."

Nine counties in Kentucky are holding mass meetings of Democrats this afternoon to protest against the nomination of Goebel for governor. They are Carroll, Henry, Bath, Harlan, Warren, Fayette, Owen, Montgomery and Lester. There are few of the mountain counties where mass meetings are not being arranged. It is now clear that the booters are threatening for things are rapidly taking shape. Even the Goebelites admit that the situation has become alarming, and they are taking steps to check the movement.

HOW THEY'LL BE DISTRIBUTED.
An agreement for the distribution of the census patronage in Kentucky has been reached at Washington, by which Senator Deboe names supervisors in the First, Third, Fourth Fifth and Tenth districts; Senator Lindsay in the Second, Sixth, Seventh and Eighth, and Representatives Pugh and Boring in the Ninth and Eleventh respectively. All have made their selections except Senator Lindsay, who is now in Frankfort. The fifty-seven positions allotted to Kentucky in the census bureau will be divided so that each Democratic congressman will get two appointments and each Republican congressman six. The remaining twenty-seven places will be divided between Senators Lindsay and Deboe.

THE WHOLE TRUTH.
Louisville Commercial. "The day has gone by when Kentucky can use a Jo Blackburn in the United States senate. The whole south in fact, is seeking to private life the back-burn variety of indolent and impractical politicians who have long since ceased to be regarded as stat-smuch."

A PROTEST

Independent Democratic Side of the State Canvass.

In a Timely and Thoughtful Editorial the Lexington Herald Explains Its Position.

Lexington Herald, 21st: "We have as yet been unable to find in any publication approving the nomination of Mr. Goebel or to submitting to it the slightest intimation that he was the choice of the Democratic party of Kentucky. We presume that neither Mr. Goebel nor any of his friends would claim that upon a fair contest conducted in a manner to secure the unbiased desire of the Democracy of Kentucky would he have the slightest chance to obtain a nomination. Indeed the highest quality accorded him by his most enthusiastic followers is that he wrested from the majority an unwilling nomination, and obtained by astute means the prize which was not given to him but seized by him. In spite of the powerful machinery which he controlled, in spite of the organized rings of the county towns, he was overwhelmingly rejected at the mass meetings. The number of delegates in favor of his nomination did not equal more than one-fifth, if indeed one-sixth, of the legally elected delegates to the convention. By insincere methods, delegates professing to be for other candidates, but at heart for him, obtained election to the convention who otherwise would not have been sent. Yet when these were added to those who openly were for him they would not have constituted one-third of the convention."

"We have been struck during the month which has elapsed since the convention met with the boldness with which the supporters of Mr. Goebel put forth the proposition that the action of the convention, without regard to the question as to whether it expresses the will of the majority or not, is binding; that it does not make any difference whether that action is based upon the will of the majority or upon some trick or device or fraud, that the result reached by any method is equally binding upon the consciences or actions of all Democrats. It is against this proposition and against the practical application of it that the Herald has constantly protested. We have made no personal attack upon Mr. Goebel, no reference in any way to any personal act of his entire life. We have made no defense upon the action of Captain Stone, nor any to the conduct of General Hardin. The personal aspect in this question is to us quite immaterial."

"We believe that all modes of election have for their object the ascertainment and execution of the honest will of the legal voters. We are, therefore, opposed to the election of, and to all methods no matter what they are nor how disguised—which make a result that is known to be fraudulent but done under forms of laws equivalent to the honest and legitimate result. And upon the same principles and for the same reasons we oppose in any party and denounce when committed by any convention a dishonest result reached by improper means, and then claimed to have the same effect as if the result was an honest result reached by legitimate methods."

It is no answer to our position to say that the Herald is not a Democratic paper, and is intermeddling with matters which do not concern it; for under the laws of Kentucky a nominating convention is a legal body, its candidates have legal right, among others, to have their names printed on a legal ballot, under a chosen symbol, and that at the expense of the voters of the state. Every citizen, therefore, has the right to demand that before a candidate shall have this legal status and be entitled to these legal privileges, he shall in good faith be the candidate of his party and not simply be declared its candidate when he has not been properly nominated. Judge Campbell in the bribery case in the Franklin circuit court, decided that the McChord convention was a legal body and that an attempt to bribe one of its members was a violation of the laws of the state. Upon precisely the same grounds and for exactly the same reasons every citizen has the right to demand that this legal body shall be legally organized, that its procedure shall be legal and its results shall be honestly reached."

"But upon other and perhaps higher grounds, every citizen has the right to protest against any act committed by a body of citizens which teaches the youth of Kentucky that there is no distinction between honesty and dishonesty; that the highest rewards in the state can not be obtained by frank, just and righteous methods, but are only to be obtained by improper and indefensible means. This convention represents, perhaps, a majority of the people of Kentucky. It can hold in the commercial and political metropolis of the state, it attracted the attention not only of the state, but of the whole country. Every citizen has a right with uplifted hands to proclaim to the state and to the world that it was not a fair representative of Kentucky morals, Kentucky methods, and did not speak in the name of the majority of Kentucky people. In addition, if the methods used, to obtain control of that convention, and to wrest their nomination from a majority are successful now, a precedent is established for all parties and for all the future. And in this aspect, we, as well as every citizen, have the right to proclaim our opposition to those methods and to express our hope that they will not be crowned with success."

"Every citizen is, therefore, deeply interested in the notes adopted for the selection of these nominees as well as in the personnel of these tickets and has the right to inquire as to both, and to condemn or approve as such citizen may think best."

"It is not merely the ticket which is presented for approval, but it is the convention and the party represented

Advertising has been tentatively defined as the public notification of a fact, says the Philadelphia Record. This is a definition worth remembering. Facts are what the public is looking for in business announcements, and it takes to have them interestingly presented. They accept his announcements as presumptions of facts embodying timely information about his wares and rely upon his statements in a popular newspaper as notifications of advantages to be gained by purchasing his goods.

Paducah Lodge, No. 127, F. & A. M., will meet this evening in stated meeting at 8 o'clock, also work in E. A. degree. All visiting brethren are welcome.

The grand larceny case against Charles Jones is set for tomorrow in the police court.

Tom Davis, who is wanted as a witness, and probably as an accomplice in the Cordie Brown housebreaking case, was arrested this afternoon by Officer Gray.

A MORSEL.
The gossips have a nice little morsel to roll under their tongues. As the story goes a wife came home unexpectedly from the springs; there was a ring of the telephone bell which was not intended for the wife, but it was her who answered; there was a reprimand for the non-sending of some promised groceries; a promise to send them, which promise was kept; the wife following the delivery wagon and entering the house after the wagon and indulging in a stiff talk. There was a sudden return to the springs and the husband was first made aware of the coming of his better half when advised of her departure. Telegrams and letters were for a time unanswered, but there was peace where now for the wife is again at home. There may be many errors and much injustice in the report, but the story is afloat and it is well for "the gang" to be standing together.

WANTED GUARDIANS.
Quite a number of young men who have drifted away from home and have no guardians have applied to County Judge Tully for the appointment of guardians. They are under age and cannot be enlisted by the army recruiting officers here, with out the consent of parents or guardians, and their parents residing in some cases many miles away, they have attempted to have guardians appointed, but to no purpose. Judge Tully does not think it can legally be done. One of the young men thus disappointed is Charles Robbins, the young man who has been assisting Lockup Keeper Menifee at the city hall for several months past.
